THE HOUND OF THE BASKERVILLES

Director's Note

In 2006, the British theater company, Peepolykus (pronounced “People Like Us”), created The Hound of the Baskervilles, a masterful parody of the 1939 film of the same title, itself a version of the 1902 Sherlock Holmes thriller by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle. In the original Peepolykus production, three of the characters were the actors/creators themselves, adding a play-within-a-play element to the absurdity.

Happily for us, the published version specifies that other companies performing The Hound of the Baskervilles use their own actors' names and identities in performance. So, instead of meeting Javier Marzan, John Nicholson and Jason Thorpe (the original creators) some of the “characters” you'll meet here at the Majestic will be our own actors: Abuzar Farrukh, Jack Grigoli and Jay Sefton!

Actors who can joyfully embrace this fast-paced, improvisational style are key to the success of this madcap spoof—so I feel so lucky to be working with this trio of skillful comedians who make the play their own. As an example of using the people we have in the room, our Sherlock Holmes, played by Abuzar Farrukh, who is Pakistani American, speaks in Urdu rather than in Spanish when playing Cecile, a character originally created by Spanish actor Javier Marzan. (And if understudy Gabe CiFuentes goes on, we'll go back to the Spanish!) The meta layers of reality and fiction create much of the humor, as we delight in seeing these three versatile performers scramble to take on a total of seventeen roles with no pauses for costume or scenic changes.

My personal connection to this play is through the theater company I started in my twenties—The Unusual Cabaret, in Bar Harbor, Maine. There, in the early 1990s, a small group of actors and I created new comedies and musicals together—often ridiculously zany and self-aware, as is The Hound of the Baskervilles. So, when Sue Dziura offered me the opportunity to direct this play at the Majestic, I was excited for the opportunity to connect with this youthful part of myself and to engage with this joyful script.

Sometimes what we need from the theater is pure delight—and this play gives us just that!

Who's Who

ELIE BERMAN (Production Assistant) (she/her) is thrilled to be returning to the Majestic Theater after ASMin'g their fall production of Once. Having recently graduated from Smith College, Elie is based in Northampton and works in stage management and arts admin at various companies across Western MA. She is immensely grateful to Sue Dziura for inviting her back to the Majestic and to the entire production team for being so welcoming and fiercely kind. Lots of love to her partner, Evan Kos, and beloved family for their continuous support as she pursues her passion of theater. IG: @ellie.berman

SUE DZIURA (Producing Director) As Director of the Theater at Wilbraham & Monson Academy for over fifteen years, Sue produced and directed dozens of fully-mounted classics like Oklahoma, Chicago, and All My Sons, as well as smaller works for the classroom and the community like The Laramie Project, produced with a cast of both students and faculty members. At the Majestic she's worked both on and off stage since 2004, most recently performing in A Moon for the Misbegotten and directing Waitress and Bright Star. In between having babies, has worked in theaters extensively throughout Western MA. Sue began her Undergraduate theatre training at UMASS and received her BFA in Theatre Performance from the University of Memphis. Love and endless gratitude to her favorites; Michael, Celeste, Camille, Ollie, and Josie.

DANNY EATON (Founding Producing Director) is the Majestic Theater's inspiration for and founding member of The Theater Project. He enrolled at Holyoke Community College in 1970 after a four and a half year stint in the Marine Corps and subsequently transferred to Amherst College. He later received a Masters Degree in Playwriting from Wesleyan University. His many plays have been seen locally, as well as in New York and Chicago. He was Assistant Director at Stage West, and also a faculty member and Artist-in-Residence at Columbia College in Chicago. He produced and directed the Majestic's inaugural production of Buddy: The Buddy Holly Story. In addition to producing each season's calendar of shows he has also directed many of the productions. He wrote the musicals The Ride and Anthem, the plays The Island Lily, Iris, The War and Walt Whipple, Betty and the Patch, and The Ladyslipper. He is a member of The Dramatists Guild and the Society of the Stage Directors and Choreographers (SDC). Danny is also the proud winner of 2009's New England Theatre Conference Regional Theatre Award for Outstanding Achievement in the American Theatre.

ABUZAR FARRUKH* (Abuzar/Holmes) is an actor born and raised in Lahore, Pakistan whose credits include: Big Big Sky, Guards at the Taj (Chester Theatre Company), Invasion!, The Plein Air Plays (Angram Center for the Arts), Far, Far Better Things (WAM Theatre), The Night Diary (Children's Theatre of Charlotte), Twelfth Night, King Lear (Capital Classics Theatre Company). Abuzar is overjoyed to be making his Majestic Theatre debut and would like to thank Sue and Gina for this opportunity!

MICHAEL GARCIA (Production Assistant) is grateful to be back with the Majestic. He has been lucky to tell stories on Majestic's stage (Waitress, Mamma Mia!, Guys and Dolls, 9 to 5). He even got to live out his boyband dreams with "LYRIX" (The Boyband Project). Heartfelt thanks to Sue Dziura, a mentor whose guidance has meant more than words, and to the design team, whose generosity of time and talent has been a masterclass in artistry. Above all, thank you to this cast and crew, who prove every night that the work is only as beautiful as the people you make it with. Follow his journeys @HeyMichaelGarcia.

JACK GRIGOLI* (Jack/Sir Henry) most recently appeared as Eddie in Shear Madness! You may also remember him as Chris in The Play That Goes Wrong and Bernard in both Don't Dress for Dinner and Boeing, Boeing. Born and raised in Southern CA, and after completing the actor training program at the Pacific Conservatory of Performing Arts (PCPA), he then went on to receive his undergrad degree in Theater Arts from Long Beach State where he appeared as Roy Cohn in both parts of Angels in America. Jack moved to MA with his family in 2011 and has been performing professionally locally ever since. Other favorite stage credits include Deathtrap (Clifford), Alabama Story (Thomas), The Compleat Works of Wllm Shkspr & History of America (Abridged) (Adam); Much Ado about Nothing (Benedick); Merry Wives of Windsor (Ford); R & J (Romeo), and Love's Labour's Lost (Berowne). Jack would like to thank his daughter Ashley for running lines with him. He would also like to dedicate his performance to his dear friend Scott "Renzo" Renzoni who sadly passed away just a year ago.

RYAN HICKEY (Sound Engineer) is a theatrical Sound Designer and Engineer currently based in Northampton, MA. After serving as Resident Sound Designer at Signature Theatre in Arlington, VA for over six years and 30 productions, Ryan relocated to Western MA to work with the Department of Theater at UMass Amherst. Some favorite sound designs include The Woman in Black (Virginia Stage Company), Deathtrap, Smokey Joe's Cafe (Drury Lane Theatre), Titanic, A Little Night Music, Light Years, Girlfriend, Scottsboro Boys, Assassins, The Color Purple (Signature Theatre).

GINA KAUFMANN (Director) has directed for numerous regional theaters, including The Williamstown Theatre Festival, Lake Tahoe Shakespeare Festival, Sacramento Theatre Company, Wellfleet Harbor Actors' Theater and Shakespeare & Company (Lenox). In New York, she has directed for SoHo Rep, HOME for Contemporary Theatre and Art, Wings Theatre, and Dixon Place. Favorite recent productions include The Last Five Years at the Majestic Theater, Luna Gale at New Century Theatre, a 1950's-style musical version of Tartuffe at Shakespeare & Company, Street Scene for Five College Opera, The Beggar's Opera Cabaret at Eastworks and The Cake, The Broken Machine and The Amateurs for Silverthorne Theater Company. She directed Tanya Barfield's Bright Half Life for both Silverthorne Theater and WAM Theatre. Gina is a member of the Stage Directors and Choreographers Society (SDC) and a Professor of Theater at the University of Massachusetts Amherst. She is grateful to Sue Dziura for the opportunity to explore The Hound of the Baskervilles with this wonderful cast and crew.

MARCUS KEARNS (Production Manager) is a jack-of-all-trades in the theater world. He spent the 2010s splitting his time between the Berkshires and NYC. During this time, he worked as a props carpenter for Broadway, a production manager for various events (from Redbull to Rhianna), and an actor whenever he had the chance. He later settled in Brooklyn and became the Associate Production Manager of Theater and Media for BRIC Arts Media, where he helped support the work of local Brooklyn artists. In 2021, Marcus moved back to the Berkshires and made his return to the stage in Mr. Fullerton at the Great Barrington Public Theater. He became the Associate Production Manager and eventually the Director of Production and Operations for Barrington Stage Company. He's happy to be a part of the Majestic Team!

HOPE ROSE KELLY* (Stage Manager) previously worked at Majestic Theatre on The Play That Goes Wrong. Other companies worked at include TheatreSquared, Shakespeare & Company, Central Square Theatre, WAM Theatre, Barrington Stage Company, Berkshire Theatre Group, American Stage Company, Hartford Stage Company, Montana Repertory Theatre, Long Wharf Theatre, The Wilma, Wallis Center, The Public Theatre, McCarter Theatre, New Repertory Theatre, Hangar Theatre, George Street Playhouse, Stonington Opera House Arts, CLOC. She is a member of Actors' Equity Association, Stage Managers' Association where she serves as the International Cohort Chair, and OISTAT. Follow @doctorstgmg on Instagram.

DAWN MCKAY (Costume Designer) is grateful to be designing her 14th season at the Majestic Theater. Some of her favorite past productions with the Majestic Theater include The Play That Goes Wrong, Don't Dress for Dinner, Deathtrap, Forever Plaid, Boeing-Boeing, The War and Walt Whipple, Guys and Dolls, Johnny Guitar, Million Dollar Quartet, Amadeus, Butler, Harvey, Next to Normal and The Last Romance. Dawn is thankful for the amazing Majestic production team magic, as well as the wonderful cast and crew for bringing her costume designs to life. Much love and gratitude to Gavin, Hannah, Grady and Brie. Special thanks go to Christine Thompson, Mooneyan Field and Greg Trochlil for costume support. Dawn resides in Suffield, Connecticut with her two dogs, Pua and Riddle, and kitty Stout.

DANIEL DAVID RIST (Lighting Designer) has been a designer in the Valley since 1979 when he arrived at Smith College. He has designed many productions for the Smith College Theatre and Dance Departments, Pioneer Valley Ballet, and Boston Ballet Theater. Mr. Rist has been The Theater Project's Lighting Designer for the past 20+ years and is very grateful to serve Danny Eaton and the entire team of professionals assembled at the Majestic. Some of his favorite designs here include: Enchanted April, Bus Stop, Almost Maine, Blood Brothers, Streetcar Named Desire, and Set and Light Design for Alabama Story. Mr. Rist was also the resident set and light designer for Northampton's New Century Theatre for 30 years, a resident summer professional company at Smith College. He was also the set and lighting designer for the professional revival of Rodger Blum's choreographic masterpiece In Dreams at Smith College. Mamma Mia! marked his 90th design for The Majestic.
